Mrs. Carnes, a woman with seven children and one or more grandchildren, and a man named Snodgrass, an eloping couple from Pittsfield, Ill., were arrested at Fresno, Cal. There is in course of construction at the Marysville (Cal.) Foundry a machine which is a combined dredger and a levee builder. It is the second of the kind ever built. The first one was made at the same establishment, and is in use on the San Joaquin river. This one is for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, and is to be used in levee building on the Sacramento river. The dredge has a swing of 80 feet. The machine is capable of building a levee 40 feet high and 80 feet wide. It is known as the Vandegar dredger.

Not a Very Safe Hat.

The Custom House officers in Moscow recently opened several cases of men's hats which had been lying for some time in the depot unclaimed by the consignee, whose address could not be found. On opening the cases suspicion was excited by the unusual weight of some of the hats, which, on examination, were found to have a double crown, the space between the real and false crown being filled with explosive material, which, on being thrown to the ground, would have the effect of a bomb. The authorities are making an investigation, which, however, has been without result.

People of advanced ideas are never slow to recognize that which will result in the greatest benefit to their wealth, health and happiness; such people never fail to perceive the great benefit resulting from the use of St. Jacobs Oil, when afflicted by rheumatism. Wm. H. Wareing, Asst. General Superintendent Third Division Mailing and Distributing Department, New York Post Office, in writing concerning St. Jacobs Oil says: "The reports from the several superintendents and clerks who have used the Oil agree in praising it highly. It has been found efficacious in cuts, burns, sores and stiffness of the joints and muscles, and affords a ready relief for rheumatic complaints. Hon. T. L. James, now Postmaster-General of the United States concurred the foregoing."

THE LATEST REFORMER.

The general interest taken in the visit of Oscar Wilde to this coast may fairly be considered as based on no one thing more than the national peculiarity which demands that every citizen shall, on every available occasion, gaze on the immediate object of novelty, whether it be a prize pig or a distinguished statesman; a female reformer in breeches or a monster circus; a great General or a six-legged calf; anything, in short, which appeals to the curiosity.

No one can seriously believe that the immature young Irishman, who is now reaping a golden harvest here is worthy of anything more than fair hearing and courteous treatment. That he should be apothecised as a reformer, heartily bent on improving the morals and manners of the New World, is too absurd for consideration. The languid Oscar is not of the type that appeals to the sympathy of any but a few curled darlings of the English aristocracy. Many may look on him and listen to his rhapsodies, but there will be no founding of the Order of Aesthetes in the United States. The dressmakers and milliners will utilize the interest in the sunflower movement, and temporarily increase their sales by introducing a few reminders of the English remittance, but the main effect will be that young Mr. Wilde will return to his mamma, with a ponderous roll of greenbacks, to sink into merited obscurity, outside of a few drawing rooms in the Busthorne circles. Few, however, will not cheerfully concede unbounded assurance to the representative of the English society cranks. Here is a fleshly young man warring against the Philistines, and posing in the role of a reformer, whose poems, now scattered broadcast over the land, excel in indecency the suggestive songs of Swinburne, the eccentricities of Swift and Rabelais, and the doubtful romances of the De Cameron. The long-suffering patience of our people was surely never more severely tested than by the tender and dreamy-eyed Oscar's inconsistency and impudence.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The San Francisco Chronicle says: The only persons disappointed by the passage of the Chinese bill are the Democratic politicians. It removes the subject of Chinese immigration out of politics, and deprives them of excellent material for conducting a campaign.

We are under obligations to Congressman Cassidy for Blaine's memorial address on the life and character of James Abram Garfield, and to Senator Fair for several speeches delivered on the Chinese question.

Hon. R. M. Daggett has a fine poem in the Enterprise headed a "Nevada Sunset." It is too long for our nonpareil case.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTER.

A Gowl at the President.

WASHINGTON, March 28.

The dissatisfaction of the Republican Senators at what they consider the unnecessary dilatoriness of the President in making appointments is gaining expression daily, and grumblings increase. Last Saturday a half-dozen Republican Senators, who happened to meet at the Capitol, discussed the Presidential tardiness with warmth, and commented freely upon what they regarded as favoritism shown certain Senators. It was remarked that both of the Massachusetts Senators had been slighted and neglected; that the Custom House appointments in Boston had been vacant some weeks, and though both of the Senators daily urged filling them, the President had taken no action at all.

One Senator remarked that it looked to him as if the Administration was a close corporation made up of leading Stalwarts, including several Senators. It was said that no Senators except Logan and Don Cameron could get an appointment, and that they seemed to get anything they wanted. This subject is a matter of every-day talk now between the Republican Senators, and Congressmen, and complaints that were recently whispered are now loudly spoken.

A Montana Indian Drive.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 28.

Special reports received at Fort Assiniboine, Montana, by courier from Captain Jacob Kline, of the Eighteenth Infantry, in command of the column operating against the half-breeds and Indians on Milk River, say he struck the Indians on the 14th inst., half a mile below Medicine Lodge, where there were 35 or 40 lodges of Little Pine's band. On the 15th, by forced marches, he reached the first half-breeds' village, and a half hour later the detached cavalry had destroyed 80 or 90 dwellings. The leaders fled. The half-breeds were badly demoralized, and are going north. The cavalry have been sent to the lower village, and this movement will close the half-breeds' campaign, unless the Indians again show themselves on the north side of the river, when Captain Kline will drive them back over the line.

An Eastern Hurricane.

NEW YORK, March 28.

A special from Moraca says: A violent hurricane swept over this place yesterday evening. On Cooper's plantation all the houses including the dwellings, were destroyed. J. W. Yearborough lost his gin houses and two cabins. Loss, $25,000. An old colored woman on Ludeling place was blown away. Her body has not yet been found. Several negroes are reported killed.

A Virginia Town Burned.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 28.

The town of Gwindy was to-day almost entirely destroyed by fire.

FOREIGN.

Skobeloff and the Slavs.

CETINJE, March 28.

The official organ of the Montenegro Government having published an address to General Skobeloff signed by the Prime Minister and the War Minister of the Principality, applauding Skobeloff's speech, Skobeloff replied that he believed in the mission of the Slavs, and intends collecting a fund for them.

A Fenian Scare in London.

LONDON, March 28.

The night police force now around the docks numbers 600. It is believed that the Fenians intend to blow up the tunnel to North Woolwich, which passes under the docks.

WESTERN.

Oscar Wilde in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.

Oscar Wilde delivered his first lecture at Pratt's Hall last evening. A full audience of the best social element was present and received the "apostle of aesthetics" civilly and pleasantly. He spoke, without notes and with but little gesture, for about an hour and a quarter. His delivery is monotonous, but his language good and enunciation clear and distinct. His subject was "English Renaissance," and the substance of the lecture was a plea for the cultivation of the artistic sentiment. To accomplish this, he held that labor should be dignified and the handicraftsmen be encouraged to put his best thought and most conscious endeavor into his work; that the designer and the workman should be brought into intimate relations; that a general love and appreciation of the beautiful should be fostered by the prevalence of true artistic work; that art should be local in character, exhibiting the idiosyncrasies of each community and avoiding mere imitation; that art had a still higher mission—to instill in the mind a love for the beautiful and good in thought and act as well as in mere outward form, and might in the future tend to draw nations together in chosen brotherhood through a common love for the harmony of art and nature. He closed with a reference to the natural beauties of California as a direct incentive to the citizens to cultivate the beautiful in harmony with their surroundings.

Beecher's Pestilent Pets.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.

The police yesterday heard that two Chinese lepers had taken up their quarters under a building near the corner of Pacific street and Sullivan alley. On reaching the spot the officers detailed to make the arrests found that a burrow had been made under the building about ten feet long and six feet wide and eighteen inches high. This hole, carpeted with some filthy rags and fragments of discarded door mats, etc., was the dwelling-place of the two unfortunate. One of them was absent at the time. His companion was streaked and furrowed with the ravages of the disease and covered with offensive, running sores. He said that his mate had gone to forage on neighboring swill barrels for food, as their countrymen afforded them no assistance. The health officer was notified and took the sufferers to the pest house. The building under which the lepers harbored is used by a Chinese firm as a manufactory of clothing for the American market.

M. C. GORMANNE.

Boca, Cal., March 2, 1882.—

Rescued From Death.

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., in the fall of 1878, was stricken with consumption, and followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day feel better than for three years past. I write to you to thank Dr. HALL'S BALSAM, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness.

To the Traveling Public.

People who ride on railroad trains need good watches. W. H. Miller, of Sacramento, has a good watch and is willing to sell it at a reasonable price.

John Killalea, a longshoreman, residing at 410 Pacific street, killed his wife, Maria Killalea, in a drunken fit of jealousy. Armed with a sheath-knife Killalea proceeded, in his fury, to carve the woman in a horrible manner. Stabs were inflicted on the right side of the neck, right side of chin, shoulder, abdomen, chest, under left nipple; also a fearful slash in the left side of the face from ear to the angle of the mouth. The first and second fingers of the right hand were also nearly severed. Killalea did not seem to be exhausted until life was extinct. When arrested, the murderer was asked what was the matter, when he answered, with brutal indifference, "Oh, nothing; I have only cut my wife's throat. That's all." The deceased woman was a native of Ireland, aged 46 years. She was the mother of six children—all living.

W. T. Elrod was last evening declared insane by Doctors Bergman and Bishop, and ordered sent to the Stockton Asylum: Elrod will be taken below to-night.

Sierra street, between First and Second, is being ploughed on each side under the direction of the Road Superintendents, and will be thoroughly graded and put in first-class shape.

McFarlin' is making two more cisterns for fire purposes. One of them will be placed on North Virginia street, near B. F. Leet's residence, and the other in the Western Addition.

Yesterday and to-day have been unusually warm and summer-like. The backbone of Winter seems to be fairly broken. Several cases of Spring fever of the languid type are reported about town, but otherwise the health of the community is excellent.

An Expert's Opinion. Senator Powning, who is posted on the sunflower boom, says that there is no difference between an anesthetic and an analgesic—for both are either-ial.

THE BEST BREED.

What Is Being Said About Hereford Cattle.

The Breeders' Live Stock Journal, of Illinois, has been looking into the claims of different breeds of cattle. One writer says:

"It is a well-known fact that there is no other breed that can compete with the Herefords as profitable stock.

As regards the Hereford breed for dairy purposes, I can speak from experience, that when well kept few will answer better. I can give an instance of a prime cow of my father's producing thirteen pounds of butter per week when allowed hay and cabbage the whole of the winter."

Another man says:

"My opinion of the Herefords is that they are the nicest breed of cattle, taken for all purposes, that walks the earth."

Wm. Gother, of old England, believes:

"They will pay more money for the food they consume than any other breed, in which opinion many of the most eminent graziers agree, some of whom reside in short-horn districts, and travel nearly 100 miles to the Hereford fairs to buy oxen."

One stockraiser shipped his cattle to market and complained to the dealer that he could not raise cattle and sell them at the price paid. The dealer said:

"You haven't the right breed of cattle; you get some Herefords, and you will be sure to get a good price for them."

He did get some Herefords, and aside from the marked improvement in stock, has had no trouble in selling either thoroughbreds or grades, the grades bringing a far better price than thoroughbred short-horns.

The Next Attraction.

Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrels, who will give one performance here on next Monday evening, a big hit in San Francisco. The Chronicle says:

"It is a very complete organization. We recognize many well-known names in the list, and the end men are as clever as any we have had. The singers are good, the quartette being a feature of the bill. The American Four are mightily received with applause and laughter, and the two tumblers are astonishing in their feats of legs and arms. The bill ends with an ambitious burlesque on 'The Mascotte,' which is very funny."

Reserved seats may now be secured at no advance over usual rates. The troupe is likely to be welcomed with a crowded house.

Underwear at Cheap Rates.

Five tramps broke open a Central Pacific freight car at Lovelock last Friday and stole a lot of silk underwear valued at $200. Three of the thieves were arrested near Lovelock on Sunday last, one of whom showed a remarkable development, and appeared rather more portly than his unaccustomed mode of life justified. On being stripped a half dozen fine silk undershirts were found on him, one over the other. Officer Avery was telegraphed to look out for the gang, and arrested two men last night on suspicion, who proved their innocence and were discharged.

The Parke Fatalities.

Lyman Park, of the California mining machine firm of Parke & Lacy, was among last night's departures for California. Two brothers of Mr. Parke, both pioneers of this coast, have met with sudden death recently—one being killed by a locomotive near Berkeley, Cal., and the other, Ira Parke, formerly of the firm of Parke and Bowie, Virginia City, falling dead from heart disease on the streets of San Francisco.

Friday Night Entertainment.

An entertainment is to be given at the Baptist Church, Friday night. Beside a good programme of recitations and singing, Mr. Jamison is to present a large number of stereoscopic views of scenes in Europe and America. Arrangements are being made to make it very interesting for the young folks and children. This will be the first of the series of the regular monthly entertainments to be continued.

New Flour Mill.

As soon as machinery can be got on the ground a new thirty-barrel steam flour mill will be erected at Milford, Lassen county, by H. H. Dakin & Co. The old mill will not be dismantled, as none of its machinery is to be used for the new one. The cost will be fifteen thousand dollars. The site is on the main street of Milford. John H. Moon is to be the mill-wright.

Who Is He?

The Carson Tribune says: A young man in Government employ in Carson, who has been in the habit of traducing young ladies and gentlemen, when accused of his treachery this morning, called a young lady a "d—d liar." Fortunate for the cur no men were around to knock him down.

A Narrow Escape.

Wednesday afternoon, says the Truckee Republican, a little girl, while crossing the street, was attacked by an infuriated bull, lifted upon its horns, and tossed off into the snow. Fortunately the child was uninjured. The animal soon after got stuck in the snow and was shot.

Another Patient for Stockton.

Edward V. Conway, of Virginia City, a minor, was yesterday adjudged insane. He created some excitement by running through C street pursued by the officers. He will be taken to Stockton this evening.

Unfortunate McGregor.

Judge King committed Alex. Mc. Gregor to the Stockton Asylum last evening. McGregor is very violent, and when boarding the train last evening was particularly so. It took the Sheriff and several assistants to manage him.

An Expert's Opinion.

Senator Powning, who is posted on the sunflower boom, says that there is no difference between an anesthetic and an analgesic—for both are either-ial.

A CATTLE KINGDOM.

The Largest Stock Raiser East of the Mountains.

That there is no danger of the cattle business of Nevada failing is being proved every day. There is a sure and steady yield every year, and only a universal catastrophe could destroy the capacity of the State in that respect. In conversation with an intelligent stock man yesterday the GAZETTE reporter learned that W. B. Todhunter branded last Spring over 9,000 calves and has sent to market this season 6,000 head of beef cattle.

These figures prove Mr. Todhunter to be the largest stock raiser in this country. There are others who send more cattle to the market, but they buy them instead of raising them.

He has over 20,000 head of stock cattle and over 100,000 acres of patented land. He got patents last month for 35,000 acres of swamp land in one bunch. He has about 1,000 bulls and 300 saddle horses. He employs 50 men and puts up 2,500 tons of hay, to guard against hard winters. He keeps 100 work horses and raises grain enough to feed all his saddle and work stock. Besides his cattle he has 700 or 800 stock horses, 4 jacks and 50 stallions. His stock is divided among four ranches, one known as the White Horse ranch, lying just inside the Oregon line, where 5,000 head are kept; one in Long Valley, in the northwest corner of Nevada, lying alongside of Surprise, supports 4,000 head; the Pyramid ranch, lying at the northeast corner of the lake, has 1,500 and a lot of horses; the Abbott ranch, at Steens Mountain, feeds 5,000, and Harney Valley 5,000 more. The home ranch is 25 miles from the Comstock.

Overwhelmed Oscar.

Judging from the tone of the San Francisco journals, Oscar Wilde was deeply impressed with the reception given him here. The Chronicle aludes to the presentation of a camel to him, at Reno, by a delegation of leading saloon keepers, as being a very brilliant, touching tribute.

Honest Poverty Squashed.

Wm. Kelly, one of the perennial tramps who favor Reno with their presence, was arrested last night on a charge of vagrancy. When brought before the stern majesty of outraged law, this morning, he waived the services of counsel and petrified the Court with the following eloquent defense.

"Look here, Judge, wot yer givin' me, anyhow? S'pose I don't work; sain't there lots here in the same fix? Mebbe Iaint as high up as you felows, but you kin betcher life I'm a free American citizen an I don't want no funny business. I'm an orphan, Judge, an' luck's agin me. Don't despise a man who wears a ragged coat, for a man's a man for a' that."

"That settles it, prisoner," thundered the Justice. "I did think of letting you off with an official reprimand but that last poetical touch sealed your fate. Ten days. Next!"

The dock being cleared, Court adjourned.

The Spring Fights Opened.

The Spring campaign opened vigorously in a saloon near the depot this morning by a rattling mill between two amateur bruisers who settled an old grudge by a lively scrap, which showed superior staying qualities in the attacked one, whose tactics were of the Sullivan stripe of hard hitting.

His opponent tried to take a doubtful advantage by raising a rock as big as his foot, around which he generously wrapped a handkerchief to ease its hardness. His adversary, notwithstanding this handicapping, came out chief and now wears the belt of the hotel section. No arrests were made, and all who saw the fight agreed that it was as pretty an opening of the milling season as could be expected this side of the Comstock.

A Child's Alarming Accident.

Little Ida, the six-year-old daughter of D. Pechner of this city, met with a peculiar accident this afternoon which nearly proved fatal. The child was playing on the sidewalk near her home when a boy threw a bottle against the fence near her, shattering the bottle, a piece of which struck the little girl on the side of her face near her ear, cutting an artery. Dr. Dawson was called and soon stopped the flow of blood, which threatened at first to prove very serious.

Verdi Dance.

At a dance in Verdi, Saturday evening, one of the participants in the festivities, supposed to have been filled with some of Ben Bacon's smallpox disinfectant, carbolic acid, stepped out on the hall floor and declared himself in favor of a waltz quadrille. Another one of the guests objected, calling for a plain quadrille. A discussion, followed by a rough-and-tumble fight, was the result. It broke up the dance.

The Peoria Labor.

John Peck, of this city, recently received a severe injury in a peculiar way. He was chopping wood, and while swinging his axe caught it on a clothes' line, which threw it back on him, striking his head and knocking him down. Although badly stunned he soon revived, but has a black and blue eye as a reminder of his narrow

The World's Wealth.
Director Burchard estimates the world's production of gold for the calendar year 1880, at $107,000,000, and of silver $87,500,000. The consumption of the world, in ornamentation, manufactures and arts, is estimated for the same period at $75,000,000 of gold, and $35,000,000 of silver. The estimated circulation of the principal countries of the world is placed at gold $3,231,000,000; full legal tender, silver, $1,555,000,000; limited tenders, $423,000,000; total specie, $5,759,000,000; paper, $3,644,000,000; making the total circulation, including the amount held in Government treasuries, banks and in active circulation, $9,404,000,000.

Emperor William.

During his sojourn in Paris in 1867 the Emperor William was visiting the Salle des Marcheaux, at the Tuilleries, in company with a Marshal, who was acting as his cicerone, when he asked him to tell him the name of each warrior as he stood before his effigy. "And who is this?" asked the King, as he approached Davout's bust. "Davout," was the answer. "And what was his title?" "He was prince of Eckmuhl," was the Marshal's reply. A moment's silence, and then suddenly, and with a firm voice, the King astounded his interlocutor with the speech: "He was also called the Duc d'Auerstadt; Prussia knows this"—reference to Davout's decisive victory.

H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

General: We have used only our Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which has been used by both my wife and myself. She used it "on general principles," as a system and liver regulator; I took the medicine for a long-standing liver trouble, and had no trouble with it, and found it convenient, and which failed to yield to the doctor's remedies, or any other, until I used your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. We both unite in pronouncing it the best medicine ever used, and in recommending it to others as a safe remedy.
